

Jennifer McKerley
Street Address
City, State, Zip
Phone
Email
Website (Optional)

Step Into Reading
Step 3, Random House
950 words, 48 pages

Amazing Armadillos

By

Jennifer McKerley

(PP. 4-5)

The armadillo comes out to hunt on a summer night.

(Say ar-muh-DIH-loh)

Her walk is slow and clumsy.

She stands up on her back legs
to listen and sniff the air.

Uh-oh! She smells danger.

(6-7)

A bobcat is on the prowl.

Still the armadillo knows what to do.

Like a digging machine,

she rips the ground

with her claws.

Quickly she disappears

inside the hole.

The bobcat finally gives up.

That's good for the armadillo.

All that digging

has made her hungry.

(8-9)

The armadillo grunts and hunts with her nose in the dirt.

Armadillos do not see well.

So she uses her sharp senses of smell and hearing to find food.

